Reorganize the words

By default, LaTeX has some issues when dealing with accentuated characters or with uppercase/lowercase words in the indexes. In order to properly specify the order of the words, the command |index must be used with the following syntax:

`\index{word-to-order@word-to-display}`

The word to order is an hidden work only used to properly order the word to display in the index.

Example

Referenced words:

- Patate

- Pâté
